Hilo, Hawaii

Located on the lush coast of the Big Island, Hilo is the capital city of Hawaii. Hilo is also where you'll find two of the most spectacular waterfalls in all of creation: Rainbow Falls in the south and the mammoth Akaka Falls in the north, which sends hundred of thousands of gallons of water plummeting over a volcanic cliff. Hilo is also home to Volcanoes National Park and the imposing Kilauea Volcano.

Kailua Kona, Hawaii

This was once the seat of power from which the great King Kamehameha ruled his island empire. Located on the picturesque Kona Coast, Kailua Kona is close to the marine sanctuary of Kealakekua Bay. This snorkeling haven is also home to the Captain Cook monument.

Kauai (Nawiliwili), Hawaii;

If you find yourself in Nawiliwili on the Garden Isle of Kauai and experiencing déjà vu, it's all right. You've probably seen the area in a movie or two; it's been used as the backdrop for many films. Its lush landscape served as the home to genetically engineered dinosaurs in the blockbuster Jurassic Park. Not to worry, no velociraptors have been spotted here in quite some time. Here you'll find what Mark Twain once described as the "Grand Canyon of the Pacific" in Waimea Canyon.

Honolulu, Oahu, Hawaii ~ The cosmopolitan heart of the archipelago, Honolulu rises up from the lush Hawaiian flora like a beautiful white architectural rendering. Pearl Harbor, the Polynesian Cultural Center and Iolani Palace, one of the only royal palaces on American soil, are but a few of the hundreds of attractions and points of interest available to the ambitious sightseer.

Maui (Lahaina), Hawaii

The most prominent feature in Maui is Haleakala, the world's largest dormant volcano, rising 10,000 feet above sea level. The term dormant applies only to the volcano, for on the lower slopes of Haleakala you'll find emerald meadows and flower farms: all accessible from the historic town of Lahaina. If you're fortunate enough to be here between the months of December and March, you could witness one of nature's great spectacles: the annual migration of humpback whales returning to their winter home.

Ensenada, Mexico

The Riviera Pacifica with the Bar of the Seven Sins is located here. It boasts a colorful past - it was once the playground of California gentry and stars of the silver screen. Festive shops, a main street and a former prison that now serves as an Aztec Museum are just some of the highlights of this Baja Peninsula favorite.
